February 12, 2008 Dinner Meeting

Sponsored by:

New Member Mixer Sponsor:

Speaker: Mary McKay, RP, CLA

NFPA Region III Director; Legal Assistant Today's "Paralegal of the Year 2007"

Topic: "Work-Product Doctrine"¹

This presentation will explain the elements of the Work-Product Doctrine, how it is different from attorney-client privilege, where it is founded in law and how it is handled procedurally.

Mary McKay has served as NFPA's Region III Director since May 2006. Since GAP is part of Region III, Ms. McKay represents us on the NFPA Board of Directors. Some of you may remember meeting her at the NFPA Leadership Conference hosted by GAP in 2006.

Mary is employed as a paralegal coordinator and senior litigation paralegal at Glen Rasmussen Fogarty & Hooker, PA in Tampa, Florida. She completed her paralegal studies at the University of Miami. For nine years following graduation, she taught paralegal studies at the University of Miami and at Miami-Dade Community College.

Mary has served her local association, Tampa Bay Paralegal Association, in the position of NFPA Liaison, First Vice President, President-Elect and President. In 2005, Mary was chosen as one of two runners-up for Legal Assistant Today's Paralegal of the Year and won the top honor in 2007.
